College Short Course Begins Last Monday

Enrollment Shows Substantial Increase Over Previous Years

158 ON ROLLS TUESDAY

New Students Generally Recruited from Teachers Whose School Close Early In April

The annual five-weeks Spring Short Course opened Monday, bringing to the Campus a large number of teachers and other persons who will attend classes until the close of the regular Spring quarter. Enrollment was held in Social Hall.

One hundred fifty-eight persons had enrolled for the special session by four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, according to Mr. V. E. Bird, treasurer of the College board of regents. This is a decided increase over last year's enrollment, which was about 130.

Classes in the twenty-seven courses which are offered began Monday afternoon. Classes will meet twice daily, and there will be no off-days. The normal schedule carried by Short Course students will include two subjects, each of which give two and one-half hours of college credit.

The Short Course is planned particularly for teachers of Northwest Missouri whose schools have closed for the year, but is open for other men and women who wish to attend.

Under the present arrangement of the Short Course those who care to do so may attend the short session and the following Summer Session for a possible total of fifteen semester hours of credit plus additional credit for superior grades, making the requirements for a degree or certificate met more quickly than by just attending the regular session.

Courses are offered in Vitalized Agriculture, Education, English, Industrial Arts, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education, and Social Science. Physical education classes for men are not included on the schedule, but will be arranged to suit individual needs.

Short Course students will join with the long-term students in activities on the Campus. They are invited to take part in the college chorus, band, and orchestra, as well as the spring programs of other organizations.

College to Give Scholarships to Valedictorians

President Uel W. Lamkin last week announced that the College would grant scholarships for the college year 1936-37 to the valedictorians of the senior classes in the first class high schools in the district.

The scholarship has a monetary value of $39.00. It entitles the holder to enter the College any three of the four quarters of the year 1936-37 upon the payment of an incidental and activity fee of $5.00 instead of the regular fee of $18.00 a quarter.

The scholarship is not transferable, and is not good after September 1, 1937.

The following conditions are prescribed for the awarding of the scholarships:

1. The student must be valedictorian of the senior class of 1936.

2. The student must be within the upper one-third in this district on the Ohio Psychological Test which for the year 1936 must be a score of 61 or above. The Ohio Psychological Test has been administered to high school students of Missouri as a part of the 1936 Missouri College Aptitude Testing Program.

3. The student must have a satisfactory personality rating by two or more persons who are in a position to make a valid rating.

In referring to the new policy of granting scholarships President Lamkin said: "This announcement marks a departure from a policy to which the College has adhered for many years. Our observation has been that scholarships are not always granted to persons whose record would seem to insure success in college. The standards have been set up in the hope that superior scholarship and aptitude for college work may be recognized in the awards made by this institution."

North K.C. Wins Many Honors In Spring Contests

North Kansas City and Maryville high schools were victorious in music contests, classes BB and B respectively, held in conjunction with the annual northwest Missouri high school contests at the College last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. North Kansas City received the championship plaque for class BB schools and Maryville won the championship plaque for class B schools.

Bearcat Star Wins Right to Compete In the National Olympic Tryouts

MAY GET TO GERMANY

Makes 100 Yards In 9.7 Seconds and Covered 48 Ft., .75-Inch In the Hop Step-Jump

Herschel Neil, Bearcat track star, earned a right to compete in the national Olympic tryouts to be held at New York or Princeton early in June when he won first in both the 100-yard dash and the hop-step-jump events at the Drake Relays held in Des Moines, Iowa, last Saturday.

For the past three seasons Herschel has been one of the outstanding track men in this section of the country, but has always had hard luck in the big meets that he attended. With his double win in the Drake Relays, Herschel skyrocketed to fame as being one of the leading men to try for the American Olympic team which will go to the Eleventh Olympiad in Berlin, Germany later in the season.

Neil ran the 100 - in the fast time of 9.7 seconds, just edging out Don Dunn, Negro runner of Pittsburgh, Kansas, Teachers. He also had the satisfaction of proving he was faster than his showing in the race at the Kansas Relays the week before indicated. The Kansas Relays were held at the University of Kansas in Lawrence.

Herschel Neil was chosen as one of the best hop-step-jump men in the United States when he covered a distance of 48 ft. 3/4 in. in that event. Neil took all his seven trials, making one attempt before he was called to race in the 100-yard dash. He defeated Cardwell of Nebraska, who, the week before, outdistanced him about three inches in the Kansas Relays. Cardwell placed second by covering 47 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Neil's best mark in this event is 48 feet 11 inches made in practices.

Herschel has been a student here for the past three years and has been the outstanding track man in school during this time. Besides running the 100-yard dash and (Continued on page 4)

Country Club for College Students

President Uel W. Lamkin this week issued the following statement in regard to the use of the Maryville Country Club by College students. "The arrangement which the College made with the Maryville Country Club was that students should have the privilege of playing golf at the Country Club except on Sundays and holidays. Last year the Directors of the Club temporarily removed this restriction, but the Club is being used so much this year it is impossible to arrange for college students to play on Sundays (Continued on page 8)

Pick Out the One Who's "Nerts"

It would be suspected that when people rush about it's because of some good reason. Perhaps going to a fire, or something like that. It has been said that there's a surplus of leisure in America, but that everybody is in more of a hurry than ever before. Automobiles are made faster than ever. People drive faster than ever. They even die faster than ever.

Most persons think the daredevil aerial stuntster plays fast and loose with life. They say, "I wouldn't do that." They shudder when they see a window cleaner hanging by a life belt, high above the street. Most persons say, "I wouldn't do that." They watch with bated breath the structural steel worker walking almost gingerly around on the skeleton of a huge skyscraper. None of that for the average person.

Hubert Garrett, of the social science department, to do graduate work at the University of Iowa in Iowa City; Mr. H. N. Schuster of the conservatory of music, to do graduate work at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.; Miss Hettie Anthony, chairman of the home economics department, to study at Columbia University in New York City; Miss Ramona Lucile L'Air, of the foreign department, to study in Old Mexico; Dr. Harry G. Dildine of the social science department, to study and do research work in the East; Miss Minnie B. James of the department of commerce and business administration, for study; Miss Mary Keith of the elementary school, for study; Mr. T. H. Cook of the department of social science, to go to Idaho; Miss Grace Shepherd of the department of education for study.

A new dance orchestra has been organized recently on the College campus, its name being the Rhythm Travelers, and being managed by Cody Grimes and Raymond Smith. These men announce that for large dances, the Rhythm Travelers are prepared to offer a twelve piece band, all College students, including four saxophones, doubling on clarinets and baritone saxophone, two trumpets, trombone, violin, guitar, bass, piano and drums.

The group owns a large library of orchestrations which enables them to offer variety in their dance programs. In addition, modernistic fronts form a distinctive foreground for the pleasing interpretations of modern dance music.

AN ADMIRAL SAYS

If an American citizen chooses to enlist in the ranks of a foreign nation at war, we do not demand that our military forces shall protect him from the machine-gun bullets. But an American citizen in search of war profits is aiding a foreign nation just as truly by supplying the commodities vital to her existence.—Rear Admiral Sims.

NOTICE

According to an announcement received by Miss Olive S. DeLuce, a special exhibit of the art department in the University at Columbia, Missouri, is being held May 1. Ella Victoria Dobbs, instructor, invites anyone who wishes to come.

May 13 is Mother's Day at the College

Attention, short-course students! Mother's day is May 13. You are a living part of this institution. Write your mother immediately and invite her to be present Mother's day. Committees have organized and plans are being developed to make this year's Mother's day one of the biggest in the history of the College.

The various committees reported to room 326 at 4 o'clock April 28, and plans and ideas were advanced for general consideration. Mothers will be registered in Social Hall from 9 until 11 o'clock, Friday, May 13, when a special assembly will be given. The tentative program for the assembly is as follows: Reading, Beulah Frerichs; Greeting, President Lamkin; Response, Student. Presentation of a scene from the operetta, "Pirates of Penzance."

Dinner will be served for the mothers at Residence Hall at 12:30. Tickets will be sold Monday, May 11, at the usual price of 40 cents. Reservations can only be made for 150 and students are urged to purchase tickets as early as possible.

The program for the luncheon is at present indefinite. Afternoon entertainment has been given careful consideration and the committee is debating as to which would be more appreciated; a tea at Residence Hall or a trip to Conception.

Posters are being prepared to be placed about the building and the committee have decided to use green and yellow for the color scheme. The next meeting of the committee will be in room 326 at 4 o'clock, Tuesday, May 5.

The Stroller

I cannot sanction Bavrdage. He is hazy, positively hazy. If he is going to relate gossip, why doesn't he put it so the rest of us can enjoy it—it isn't polite unless we can all laugh.

Extra of the week: Paul Person has hung his pin.

The Stroller has been wondering why it was that Mrs. Riley wasn't at the prom. Maybe it was because Eugene was there with another woman. And it wasn't Elisabeth McFarland either. Eugene must have a fondness for married ladies.

Alex Sawyer must be definitely rushing Beulah Frerichs. At least I'd say that two dates in one week is something for Alex.

Doris Hiles seems to be rating the Tau's. The irresistible Max Seyster has at last realized that there are some good-looking freshman girls.

Eugene Hill seems to be coming to the front fast. Since when did you get promoted to senior rank, Gene. If you won't talk, Eunice will.

Roy Brown isn't seen so much in the dining room now that Sue is in town. The Stroller is wondering what Marshall thinks of it.

The Stroller is completely disgusted! He thought he was going to get a cigar out of the Turpin-Graves combination, but he has since found out that there was nothing to the report. But it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good and perhaps Alphonse could profit by this excellent idea.

Lost, Strayed, or Stolen: Two high school girls leaving us standing at the east door till four o'clock—Dowden and Woodruff found at the south door of the College, two high school girls looking for two college fellows who weren't there—John Cox. (He didn't care.)

Warning to Roberta Johnson: Roberta don't you think morning hours are a little late to be out or early?

The Stroller saw a huge pair of four-buckle overshoes at the track meet Monday afternoon with somebody that looked like Beatrice Leeson inside of them.

The first prize of the week for interior decoration goes to Florence McIntosh and Maxine Daniel. The decision may be withdrawn, however, due to the disgust shown by Miss Campbell, who is the last word in such matters. Maybe the interior adornment was for the benefit of Florence's home-town boy friend. But she should have known they wouldn't let him go up to see it. Instead he bought a record.

The Stroller thinks that some more of the dorm girls had better start their spring housecleaning.

Overheard of Beatrice Lemon: "It is just three more days. Just two more days," and Friday it was "Just till evening."???

Why does Virgil Gex bring his landlady's daughter to the library with him during working hours? Perhaps she wants to learn to be a librarian, but of course there could be other reasons.

The Stroller's laurel of the week goes to Herschel Neil for his outstanding showing at the Drake Relays. Herschel, I would like to see you go to Germany. That is, if you leave Miss Lewis with the Stroller while you are gone.

The Stroller wonders if the girl from Northwestern came all the way from Chicago just to see John Wright, or if Friday evening was just spent to fill in time. Perhaps Lillian has found out that the boys back home are the most faithful after all.

—The Stroller.

Dr. Joseph P. Kelly, head of the department of speech, was in charge of the contests in play production.

Mound City High Wins In Softball

The Girl's High School Softball Tournament played here last Saturday was won by Mound City High School, who won the final game from Fortescue by forfeit when June Rose Beasley, Fortescue outfielder sustained a painful injury to her back as she and another outfielder collided while trying to catch a fly. Mound City was leading by a score of 24 to 1 when the accident occurred.

Ten teams were entered in the tournament, but Sheridan and Rosendale failed to appear. Maryville, Daleview, Stanberry, St. Benedict's of Clyde, Breckenridge, Barnard, Fortescue and Mound

City High Schools competed. There were no close games in the tournament, and there was a great difference in the ability and training of the various players.

Probably the outstanding game of the tournament was the St. Benedict's-Fortescue game. While the score was 20 to 3 in favor of Fortescue, the game was much more interesting than the score would indicate. Both ball teams were trained, but Fortescue hit Berg, little lefthander, hard, while Minton, hurling for Fortescue, escaped with little punishment.

Mound City had the outstanding team of the tournament. Coach Camp brought twenty-six girls to Maryville and used them all in the tournament. The Mound City girls played ball nearly as well as men play, and showed superior training to every team in the affair. The tournament showed that to excel in the sport of softball takes constant and hard training.

WELCOME, SHORT COURSE STUDENTS

The Northwest Missourian takes this opportunity to speak for the entire College in extending a hearty welcome to those students who have just enrolled for the College Spring Short Course. We hope that you will very quickly become accustomed to your new, or renewed, surroundings and fellow students and that your associations with them may be most pleasant. We also hope that the Missourian can serve you as well and as interestingly as it has tried to serve the other members of the College during the current school term. If we can be of any assistance whatever, our "home" is in room 210, and consider yourselves welcome to enter at any time. Also, if any of you care to join our staff for the remainder of the year, we would also welcome you in that undertaking.

"OLD HERSC'HLL COME THROUGH!"

Several years ago, near the little community of Grandview, Missouri, it is said that one family was proud possessor of a prize rabbit catcher. Every time, the story goes, that the family desired a nice rabbit dinner the head of the family (in this case, being the father) uttered words to this effect: "Hersch, go fetch one of the fattest rabbits you can find for our dinner tonight." "Hersch", being very fleet of foot it seems, ventured into the rabbit-infested surroundings in search of his prey. Once a member of the fuzzy tribe was sighted, the fleet-footed one began his deadly chase. When, after a couple of minutes of the chase had elapsed, Hersch would come upon his prey and he would feel of the half-scared bunny to determine whether or not it would possess the amount of meat his father desired. If not, the lean one would be turned loose, and Hersch would continue in his search until he caught one of the largest rabbits in the country thereabouts. The name of this northwest Missouri family, it might be added, was supposed to have been Neil.

The authenticity of the above "yarn" may, of course, be questioned. Nevertheless, according to recent reports on the track activities of a certain man in the College, the above feats seem not at all impossible.

Herschel Neil, (undoubtedly the man referred to above) is, in our estimation, the most outstanding man on the track in the state. We could mention, in several columns in this newspaper, the outstanding awards made Neil both in high school and college, but we shall not attempt that at this time. The climax, we believe, to Hersch's track activities came last Saturday while our favorite was attending the Drake Relays in Des Moines. There he emerged with firsts in both the 100-yard dash and hop-step-jump events. We rejoice in his triumphs and hope that he goes far—even to Berlin's Olympic contests later in the year; at least, he gets a try at making the team, and we all hope for his success.

His athletic ability is not all he possesses, for he has a personality not to be overlooked. Hersch is a gentleman, both on the track and in daily life.

Possessing one of the best senses of humor in the College, Neil can "take it", as well as "dish it out."

Our congratulations are extended to this favorite athlete, and we continue to believe that "old Hersch will come through."

ON POPULARITY

Students in this College, as well as in any college or any institution, desires to be popular among their fellow students. In fact, most people in any institution or profession desire those qualities which go to make them popular with other persons. Being popular, of course, means that a person possesses some force or forces which go to make other people like and appreciate him. Probably the main force, if "force" be the word, in making a person popular is his personality, which, in the words of Webster, means "that which constitutes a person."

Hundreds of students in the College possess this personality which tends to make them popular with other students, and it would be well that we took someone here as an example of whom we believe possesses popularity. But just for an example, let us consider a national contemporary figure who has, in our estimation, a dynamic personality which goes to make his great popularity.

The person of whom we speak is none other than the president of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Two reasons for Mr. Roosevelt's outstanding popularity are, we believe, first, that he is an expert in the art of public appeal, and second, that his actions make him outstanding.

Mr. Roosevelt has been considered a man of action since the time he made his New York to Chicago flight in 1932 to the national Democratic convention where he accepted his nomination for the presidency.

Newsreels, raids and newspapers are instruments through which President Roosevelt appeals to the people of the land, and through these instruments, he is constantly before the public eye. If there is anything the American people like, it is a broad, cheery smile, and that is what he displays when he appears in newspapers and newsreels. His speeches on the radio are short and understandable, other qualities which people like.

College students could, we believe, learn a great deal in the art of being popular by following many of the President's actions.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

The College was especially fortunate in having as its guest on Tuesday of this week, Dr. Marie Bentivoglio, chairman of the geography department in the University of Sydney at Sydney, Australia. Dr. Bentivoglio was an interesting and instructing speaker and the students appreciated the successful attempt College authorities had to have her here.

The Hamilton high school band again took honors at the spring contests at the College last Thursday night when it received an honor rating I, excellent. It will be remembered that the band visited here this winter and presented an assembly program of its music, and at that time, this newspaper predicted that it should receive a high honor rating at the spring contests. The excellent quality of this band is not questioned.

Students who arrived at the College last Monday for the purpose of attending Short Course were confronted with the ordeal of traveling over probably the roughest campus drive in years. Undoubtedly the rain had no small part in making the road in bad order, but the condition of the road itself was the main factor for its roughness. May new allotments for the improvement of the drive come in the very near future.

HEROES OF AMERICAN HISTORY

Henry Ford was born on a farm near Dearborn, Michigan. He had little schooling, his interest from the first turning to machinery. At 16, he left home for Detroit and went to work in a machine shop, with watch repairing as an evening occupation, a trade in which he had become expert by repairing all the watches of the neighboring farmers at home.

Ford set out to build a popular, low-priced automobile. His first car was a success, and from it grew the present Ford Motor Co., the largest motor car company in the world, and incidentally, made Ford one of the richest men of all time.

Ford introduced new methods of mass production that revolutionized industry and enabled him to place an automobile at the disposal of people of moderate means. Through his genius, the isolated farmer and the dweller in small communities were brought into close contact with urban civilization. Although in mechanics he is a master mind, Ford's ventures in the fields of politics and social reform, as in the case of the "Peace Ship," have generally been failures.

Neil Wins Twice In Drake Relays

competing in the hop-step-jump, Neil also runs the 220-and 440-yard dashes and broadjumps for the Bearcats, and also runs anchor on both relays teams.

Following is some material concerning the Drake Relays which appeared in the Chicago Tribune and which was furnished this newspaper by Dwight Dalbey, editor of last year's Missourian, who is now living in Chicago.

"Emphasis quite naturally is placed on the athletes who raised the already high standard of performance at Drake, but no list of today's proceedings would be complete without mention of Sam Francis, Nebraska's husky full back, Herschel Neil of Maryville, Mo., Teachers and Linn Philson, of Drake. Francis took his second individual championship this afternoon in the shot put with a better than average effort of 50 feet 7 inches, more than two feet better than Don Elser of Notre Dame, second man in the event. Francis started yesterday with a championship in the discus throw.

"Neil won the 100-yard dash today in 9.7-10 seconds, not starting time, perhaps, but fast enough so that Bobby Grieve of Illinois could only finish fifth. Neil also captured the hop-step-jump from Lloyd Cardwell of Nebraska. Neil's distance was 48 feet 3/4 inch and this may be sufficient to place him on the American Olympic track team."

RESIDENCE HALL DANCE

Wouldn't you like to dance in a Southern garden? The dormitory girls thought they would so they have arranged to turn the Residence Hall living rooms into a garden of flowers to dance in tomorrow night.

The posts at the entrance will be made into a gate to give the garden more realism. The fireplace will be banked with spring flowers and a large letter "D" will be built to symbolize the dormitory. Spring flowers will be placed everywhere and will be the main theme in decorations.

The College orchestra will play for dancing from 8:30 to 12:30.

Faculty guests present will be Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Sayler.

Derotha Davis is at the head of the committees who are planning the dance. Vivian Ross, Mary Louise Lyle, Thelma Patrick, Doris McPherrin and Ilene Boyd comprise the decoration committee. Cora Dean Taylor has charge of the invitations.

Mary Frances Sutton and Lucy Mae Benson are the program committee. Ramona Troxell and Roberta Craig have charge of reservations.

Bearcats Take All But Two In the Peru Game

The Maryville Bearcats defeated the Peru Bobcats in a dual track meet here last Monday. The final score was 94 to 42 for the Bearcats. Peru was able to win only two firsts out of sixteen events, the mile relay and discus.

Neil known to most of us as "The Great" Neil, was a quadruple winner besides running anchor on the half mile relay team. In this event he really showed some speed for the first 100 yards, having to overcome a 20-yard handicap as he took the baton. He passed the Peru runner on the curve and then coasted in.

Wayne Riggs, the principal Peru winner, gave Neil a good race until the last 20 yards of the 100-yard dash.

Green and Rhoads swept the high and low hurdles, Green taking the lows and Rhoads the high sticks. Hartley ran a good race for the Bearcats in the half mile and "Doc" Wilson kept ahead all the way in the grueling two-mile race.

Sipes got his best heave of the year in the shot, 40 feet 10 inches.

The summaries:

100-yard dash—Won by Neil, Maryville; second, Riggs, Peru; third, Turner, Peru. Time 10 seconds.

DOPE BUCKET

By J. O. KING

Cape Girardeau is still winning. This time they took the measure of the strong Springfield Teachers team and did not have much trouble in winning the meet.

Springfield, however, did win several events. Stoop making the best mark of the day with his toss of 180 feet in the javelin.

Warrensburg and Kirksville found the Missouri Tigers a little to tough for them when they engaged the University in a triangular meet Monday of this week. Warrensburg was a poor second in the meet and Kirksville, third, 10 points behind the Mules.

Springfield and Rolla fought it out on the track this week but so far I have found exactly nothing concerning the meet, so there goes your dope again. I'll get them next week.

WALTER RULON INJURED

One of the Bearcats who competed in the Drake Relays came home with a badly sprained ankle and has not been at school this week as a result.

Walter Rulon qualified in the javelin in the Relays, only to sprain his ankle on the first of his final throws in the morning.

Because of the bad ankle, Rulon was not in the meet with Peru Monday and did not make the trip to Warrensburg today.

Softball Playing is Slow Last Week

Only two games were played this week in the Intramural Kittenball League as the Spring Contests took two days from League play, and rain caused the postponement of one game. This week, single games will be played each day, and beginning next Monday, both diamonds will be utilized and teams will play at least twice a week. In this manner, it is hoped that the double round robin schedule may be completed.

PURITAN CLUB 11 GEXBIRDS 1

The Puritan Club added their third straight league victory at the expense of the Gexbirds, defeating the feathered flock by a score of 11 to 1. Ten hits, coupled with four Gexbirds errors and two walks, accounted for the eleven tallies. Hunter, left fielder with the Fourth Streeters was the star of the game, pounding out a three base hit and a home run as well as playing brilliantly in the field. Woodside pitched good ball for the Puritans and was touched for only four singles. Irvine scored the Gexbird run on two singles.

Score by innings:

Puritans	0	1	5
Gexbirds	0	1	0
	5	11	10

(Five innings by agreement)

Batteries: Puritan Club; Woodside and R. Brown. Gexbirds;

Bearcats Meet Warrensburg In Track and Field

With a record of successive wins in dual meet competition that extends over the past three years, the Maryville Bearcats will go to Warrensburg today to engage the Mules of that school in a dual meet. For the past two years the Bearcats have successfully beaten the Mules, but the competition will be much stronger this year and there is promise of one of the best dual meets of the season.

Warrensburg will have almost complete mastery in the field events, and will furnish some strong competition in the track events, while the Bearcats are going to have a hard time winning the meet; however, dope favors them to win.

Green and Rhoads will be pushed in the hurdles by Cain, and Teegarden will win his share of the points for the Mules in the field events. Marsden will win the pole vault from the Maryville entry Moore.

There seems to be no chance that Neil will not be able to repeat his usual performance as high point man of the meet.

With Rulon in the hospital with a badly sprained ankle, there seems to be little chance that the Bearcats can win two places in the javelin, Don Francis will of course get his place in this event.

Coach Stalcup took some 21 men with him on this trip and is expecting to return home tonight with a victory.

spite terrible support in the infield emerged the victor. Vicious hitting by the Sod Busters was the feature of the game as six of their nine blows went for extra bases including home runs by Shroud and Claybaugh. The Taus played good ball in the infield, but Stenger was hit hard.

Score by innings:

Inside Story Tells How Reporter Acts

"The newspaper must come out—and with the very latest of news," that is the slogan of many a newspaper reporter.

One Missourian reporter, not even having an assignment, went "by air" to the big Drake Relays which were held up at Des Moines Iowa last Saturday. He said very little, if anything, of his proposed trip to any of his friends, much less the editor of this newspaper, but quietly "pulled up his stakes" and left town last Friday.

If he said anything at all, it was his friend's impressions that he was going to witness Neil's and Rulon's entries in the Relays—but the point is, very little was said.

Now to get back to the thought in the original paragraph. This reporter who, 'tis said, has a great number of varied ideas, seeing how the "big time" newspaper boys do it, saw to it that the Missourian would not be left out in the cold. Consequently, he arranged to have the photographs which may be seen in this week's issue sent to him in time for this paper.

Our appreciation is hereby extended to this reporter, Max E. R. Keeler, Northwest Missourian press man who showed 'em that athletes aren't the only one's who could go to the Drake Relays and bring back the goods.

Report is Made On Tuberculosis Tests

The results of the Tuberculin tests given early in the school year were very satisfactory, according to Dr. F. R. Anthony, College physician. Only one person had a case of active tuberculosis. This person left the College in order to be given the proper treatment. Two-hundred sixty-two people were examined during the tests in October and December. There were twenty-six students who had positive reactions. All of these students were interviewed in the Health office, and instructed upon the subject of proper care for themselves.

These twenty-six were x-rayed, and put under the care of their family doctors. Their doctors were written letters giving the report that was given to the College health department by the Missouri Tuberculosis Association. They were told, in these letters, that they might have their patient's x-ray plates by calling for them at St. Francis' hospital in Maryville.

The doctors have shown splendid cooperation and have either called for almost all of the plates or had them mailed to them. This work gives the family doctor a better chance to combat the disease, and adopt the treatment more easily to the individual.

In addition, the students who had positive negative Tuberculosis have been instructed upon how to care for themselves and are asked to report to the health department frequently. The students have been very cooperative and have received much beneficial help from these frequent trips to the health department. Constant watchfulness is the most necessary requisite to complete recovery, combined with proper care.

This care is not complicated, or hard to give under decent living conditions. It consists, in the main, of proper food and obeying the general health rules, with extra sleep and rest. The disease is fundamentally one continuous process and no sharp dividing line may be drawn anywhere in its course. It may be arrested in any stage, and may be rapid or slow. This makes it advisable to put every individual case under direct supervision of a physician who is familiar with the subject and his surroundings.

The tests were given October 14 and December 4 to College high school and College students. The first test was of the younger students, who showed a low percentage of positive reactions. Any one who wished to took the last test—this might account for the higher number of reactors, for the students who thought they might have it would be much more apt to take advantage of the test than those who believed themselves free from any suspicion of this disease. Never-the-less, many students took the test to be certain whether they needed care or not.

Of a total of 262, 17.6% showed a positive reaction. This is about an average number. But 19.5% showed a positive-negative reaction, which is very encouraging, for many foreign countries have a very high percentage in this group. The remainder, 165, or 62.8% showed no reaction. These students are absolutely free of the disease, and do not need any special observation at all.

All that the students who did show a positive reaction need is four things. They are, plenty of rest, fresh air, a proper diet, and pleasant surroundings. Every case is curable. That is why it is so helpful to begin treatment of the case in its early stages.

Pirates of Penzance to Be Staged May 15

The two-act Comic Opera, "The Pirates of Penzance" written by W. S. Gilbert and composed by Arthur Sullivan is to be staged on Friday, May 15, by the music department and the music students of the College. The rehearsals for the opera are being held now for both the chorus and the instrumental accompaniment.

The executive committee in charge of the production is composed of Mr. LaVerne E. Irvine, chairman, Miss Haggerty, Dr. J. P. Kelly, and Mr. Roy Ferguson.

The sub-committees are Dramatics, Dr. J. P. Kelly; Dances, Miss Nell Blackwell; Scenery design, Miss Olive DeLuce; Scenery execution and Lighting, Louise Bauer and the O'Neilian Club; Costumes, Miss Helen Crahan; Properties, Mr. Norval Sayler; Advertising, Miss Ruth Millett; Ushers, Miss Margaret Stevenson, Stage Manager, Mr. Hugh Wales, Prompter, Mr. Herbert Dieterich; Music, The faculty of the Conservatory of Music.

The two men who produced this opera have collaborated on a number of other operas including the popular "Mikado", "The Gondoliers", "Trial by Jury" and "Patience." This opera opens with the pirates sitting in their cavern by the sea drinking and playing cards. It is concerned with the adventures of a youthful pirate who is out of his indentures and is about to leave the pirates for life. The story is complicated when several white girls appear upon the scene, the first white girls that young Frederic has ever seen, and of course he falls in love with one of them and thus causes much sorrow to the woman who had hoped to marry him. This forms the plot of the story and the disentanglement of the various knots in the story forms the very interesting opera.

EDUCATION'S NEED

Our educational leaders now realize that education "Should not merely sum up the prevailing culture and transmit it to the next generation but should also critically examine our civilization and contribute toward its redesign and refinement."

Students Conduct Service for Peace

In the absence of a minister at the First Christian Church last Sunday, three College students presented a program of world peace. The three students who spoke were Harry Mason Lyle, Lorace Catterson and Warren Crow.

Warren Crow gave a Resume of the International Relations Conference held at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, March, 26, 27, 28. He stressed the feeling of internationalism that was much in evidence at the Conference.

Lorace Catterson spoke on "Student versus War". Ideas behind the recent student strike against war were brought out and the activity at the College, in which a constructive peace program was given, was explained. Important points developed in the College program were revealed to the congregation.

Harry Lyle asked the question, "Is War Inevitable?" as his topic for discussion. His conclusion was that only a fatalist could believe that war was inevitable. "War is not an institution", he said. "Dueling was a custom for long years, but it was abolished. Why cannot we abolish war?" We can abolish it if we get to the economic causes of War and eliminate them."

Professor Cauffield of the College presided over the morning worship and announced the program of speakers.

Place for Pictures In Modern Home

Fortunately the decorator of five or six years ago who advised against using pictures in the home has now changed his attitude. People objected to a convention which prevented them from expressing themselves in their own way through selection of pictures for their walls, and today picture buying has become one of the most important things about completing the decoration of a home.

The home maker should consider primarily the picture's decorative effect, its appropriateness to its setting. Its rarity or the name and fame of its creator should be of little or no importance, for these are the interests of the museums and art collectors. Living art must depend upon the homes of the land for support and appreciation, and in contemporary work may be found pictures suitable for any room in any type of home.

There are many homes throughout the country whose blank, uninteresting walls could be pleasantly transformed by the addition of just the right pictures for the right spaces. The general character of the room will determine the color character of the picture. At the present time, artists seem to be interested only in technical excellence, with little regard for subject matter, but the home owner must interest himself in pictures which combine the two. For the most part, brilliant colors have taken the place of the dark toned canvases of the past, but there are rooms, however, which demand the subdued shades. For such rooms which call for dignity, portraits fit in admirably with the decorative scheme, regardless of the general period. Where good family portraits are not available, works of some of our Colonial painters, or good copies of the masters are excellent substitutes. Portraits are suitable for panelled rooms, particularly libraries, but, as a rule, have no place in other rooms of the average home.

For rooms in constant use, landscapes are usually the most pleasing. The ability of the picture to arouse and hold the imagination makes it liveable through the years, and a good landscape achieves this effect. Marine pictures showing the ocean in less turbulent moods are suitable for living rooms use; those representing greater action are better for large spaces in halls or other spots where they are seen less frequently. Pictures depending for their effect upon suspended action are not as livable as those showing the more restful side of nature. Brilliant colors in a painting do not give the lasting enjoyment of the more neutral tones, particularly in large paintings.

The home owners interests will not be served by oil paintings alone. In fact, oil paintings would be entirely out of place in many modest homes. Water colors, etchings, lithographs and other prints can be used to excellent advantage. Water colors and prints go well together. In a small apartment a water color makes a fine central interest in decoration, with an etching or two and a lithograph to complete the effectiveness of the room. Water colors and prints having to do with sporting subjects can be found for use in a man's den or library, or in private office.

Individual personality can be exercised more than ever in selecting pictures for the bed room. An occasional water color or etching goes much to give personality to other bed rooms, particularly to the guest room which is too often neglected.

Many home owners have put aside the idea of buying pictures simply because they do not know how to go about getting what they want at a price they could pay. The services of the art dealer in this respect are invaluable. Most of the dealers' galleries today are willing to let people visit and look around without the dread of being pounced upon and importuned to buy something they do not want.

The average home owner knows little about art, and must depend upon a dealer to sell him something good and worth the price. No one should buy paintings of value without full information about the man or gallery with whom he is dealing. It may be said that there are many dealers throughout the country who are worthy of the fullest confidence. The Directors of many Art Museums in the United States are dependable people to consult and are nearly always willing to give disinterested advice.

Expense is the final and one of the most important matters confronting the possible buyer. Beginning at twelve dollars or thereabouts for a good print, there is an excellent choice within any reasonable picture budget. The occasional purchase of a picture or two will have a remarkable effect on the general attractiveness of a home and in genuine enjoyment they will more than repay the financial investment.

The end cannot justify the means. To employ injustice, violence, ruthless coercion for the achievement of socially desirable ends is to set loose in the world forces of evil which are certain to take their toll from those who employ them and to qualify, and in some measure nullify, the good ends achieved. Any measures which shall rebuild society closer to the vision of the ideal must themselves be consistent with that ideal.—Henry P. Van Dusen.

Noted Australian Lecturer at College

Calling Australia "the land of antipathies" and "the up-side-down country", Dr. Marie Bentivoglio took her listeners on an illustrated lecture tour of the island continent at a special assembly last Tuesday.

Dr. Bentivoglio, professor of geography at the University of Sidney in Australia, is on leave from her duties there. The noted lady geographer has real claim as an internationalist, having been born in Italy, educated at Oxford in England, and employed as a university professor in Australia.

The speaker discussed Australia from a geographer's point of view. She stressed the fact that Australia is as large as the United States, but has a population of only seven million—approximately that of Manhattan.

Scenes of the Beautiful Blue Mountains, seventy miles from Sidney, were shown. The speaker pointed out the fact that these mountains are not elevated above a plain, but are caused by great valleys cut in a plateau.

Dr. Bentivoglio discussed at length the animal life of the South Sea continent. A peculiar characteristic of all four-legged fur bearing animals in Australia is the pouch which they carry, the lecturer stated. The pouched animals greatly resemble primitive animals, she told the student body. "Australia is a museum of living fossils", said Dr. Bentivoglio. She explained the presence of the primitive type of animal in Australia by the fact that, in that continent, the more primitive types have not had to fight the more evolved type.

The speaker spent some time in telling her listeners of the kangaroo, Australia's famous animal. She also discussed the spiny anteater, the laughing jackass, the lung fish, the bower bird, and the lyre bird.

"We are still pioneering in Australia", Dr. Bentivoglio said. "We may still say in Australia, 'Go West, my son, go West'." Thus the Italian-born professor introduced her description of life in central Australia. She showed many slides to give the students an idea of ranch life in that continent.

Cattle and sheep grazing is a very important industry in Australia, Dr. Bentivoglio told her audience. The 120 million sheep in that country produce one-fourth of the world's wool, according to the lecturer. Every effort is being made to breed better sheep, with the result that the amount of wool produced by each sheep has nearly tripled in a short time. Single animals have been known to produce fifty pounds of fleece a year.

"When a horse sees a man without an umbrella, it shies", Dr. Bentivoglio remarked of rainy Tasmania. She spoke briefly of the island south of the mainland, as well as the northwest part of the continent and the barrier reef on the east coast.

Sidney was described by the speaker as "one of the five most beautiful ports of the world." Several slides were shown of the city and the harbor. Newcastle, a coal city, and Adelaide, "on the 'California' coast", were mentioned.

Dr. Bentivoglio held a forum on Australia at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Social Hall, and discussed her native country, Italy, before a group in the auditorium at three o'clock.

Dost thou love life? Then do not squander Time, for that's the stuff life is made of.

Zephyr Is Withdrawn

The Burlington Zephyr will be temporarily withdrawn from service between Kansas City and Lincoln for about two weeks, and its schedule will be assumed by a steam train of high grade equipment including air-conditioned coach and cafe-parlor car.

The substitution is primarily for the purpose of making improvements in the Zephyr's air-conditioning equipment in anticipation of hot weather requirements. At the same time the scientists in metallurgy and motors will seize this first opportunity ever accorded them to make a "microscopic" examination of a streamline, Diesel-electric train after it has experienced the stress of actual service over a considerable period of time.

The Zephyr was the first Diesel-power train ever built in America. It has performed almost faultlessly during a business career of 17½ months, and has rolled up a total of 257,500 service miles.

D.A.R. Speaker Draws Retorts

Mrs. Vinton Earl Sisson, D.A.R. national defense chairman, today was applauded by the daughters of the American Revolution, but received a sharp retort from communists in congress "masquerading under the protecting cloak of one of the major parties." She called Representatives Vito Marcantonio of New York a socialist because he wanted the public to operate utilities.

Marcantonio replied by saying the D.A.R. has become the "ladies auxiliary of the American Liberty League." "I am not interested in what the D.A.R. says or thinks," said Marcantonio. "But I am interested in the teachings of the mothers of the American Revolution. If the daughters had been in existence in 1776 the revolution would have fallen."

"Betsy Ross certainly would be ashamed of the daughters, and would advise them to go back to their knitting instead of making fools of themselves at a convention. The fact that the D.A.R. has lost 25,000 members looks as tho the granddaughters don't have much use for the daughters."

Republican Brain Trusts

After vigorously criticizing President Roosevelt's "brain trust" for the past three years, the Republican National committee last week trotted out a professorial "brain trust" of its own.

The Republican brain trust is headed Prof. O. G. Saxon of Yale University and includes among its personnel Prof. Asher Hobson of the University of Wisconsin. The purpose of this alliance of professors is to provide Republican campaign literature and publicity for the fall election. These academicians will put forth their best efforts toward scientific fault-finding with the New Deal.

From now on the American people can expect the Republican professors to view with holy alarm everything the administration has done or said and point with pride to the Republican candidate for president.

Harvard Man Obsoletes

"Harvard continues to prepare youth for a world that is passing into the limbo for a world that shortly will no longer exist," declared Dr. William E. Zeuch. "Harvard is representative of all privately endowed colleges and universities. Its teachers of the social studies appear unable to realize that the old order changeth yielding place to new, that our country is in a state of transition toward a new type of society in which the bundle of prejudices, attitudes and conceits known as 'the Harvard man' will be as outmoded as Neanderthal Man, as unsuited as the character of Java Man. In another generation or two 'the Harvard man' will be as obsolete as the dodo.

"Harvard and all similar educational institutions are tied to the profit system by endowments. Harvard derives its income from the exploitation of workers. Its student body comes largely from the class that lives on dividends from stocks and bonds. But the profit system is doomed. Chronic unemployment is its Nemesis. It cannot continue to exist with the workers two-thirds employed and one-third unemployed. Harvard and all kindred institutions will either die with the passing of the profit system or else be reborn in body and spirit to serve the new society based on production for use."

Seacroft, of which Dr. Zeuch is the head, is a new workers' school where teachers and students cultivate the soil and carry on other productive activities toward self-support as well as conduct classroom courses.

Easter Collection Paintings Exhibited

Examples of the work of foremost contemporary artists now being shown in the solarium of Residence Hall where the Hamilton Easter Field collection of thirty paintings and four pieces of sculpture opened formally Tuesday afternoon of last week and is to remain until May 1. The collection was procured by Miss Olive S. DeLuce, chairman of the department of Fine and Industrial Arts.

Hamilton Easter Field, who gained considerable fame as a painter, became better known early in his career for diversified interest in other artists which led finally to his collecting. He encouraged, fostered and bought the works of contemporary artists, and now, although he is dead, the Field Foundation carries on the project that he started.

Work of the artists represented in this exhibition have been purchased by the most important museums of this country: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; the Whitney Museum of America Art New York; the Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco; the Art Museum of St. Louis; the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; the Minneapolis Institute of Fine Arts, the Chicago Art Institute, the Corcoran Gallery of Washington, the Cleveland and the Columbia Museums.

Glen Coleman, whose "Street Scene" is shown here, is represented in the Luxembourg museum of Paris, the gallery which is known as the entrance to the Louvre. Works of Emil Ganso may be found in the principal American galleries as well as in the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris and in the Academy of Art in Honolulu. Walt Kuhn is represented in the Dublin Museum in Ireland. Maurice Sterne has paintings hung in the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin, the Cologne Museum, and in the Tate Gallery in London.

In conjunction with the showing of the Field Collection, seventeen paintings by Miss Olive DeLuce have been hung in the reception room of Residence Hall, including portraits and landscapes made in this country and in France. Miss DeLuce is the daughter of the late Percival DeLuce, a member of the National Academy of Design, and a great-granddaughter of Thomas Thompson who was a pupil of Sir Joshua Reynolds and one of the founders of the National Academy. Largely through the efforts of Thomas Thompson plans for the Brooklyn Academy of Arts and Sciences were formed and its collections begun.

Miss DeLuce's training began in the studio of her father and continued under the direction of the late Arthur Wessley Dow. In 1932-33 she studied under Andre L. Hote in Paris and in Mirimonde, France. She has had paintings exhibited in New York, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Joseph, and St. Louis.

The programs which have been printed for the Hamilton Easter Field Collection and for Miss DeLuce's exhibit contain a list of the paintings to be found in Social Hall of the Administration Building which comprise the permanent collection belonging to the College.

Several students were present at the P.E.O. Tea, Tuesday afternoon, April 21, to assist in explaining the pictures to the guests. These were: Florence McIntosh, Florence Petersen, Marion Insley, Virgil Elliott, Pauline Gallus, Mrs. Fone Riley, Dorothy Fern Murphy, Mary Harmon, Ruth Minnick, Edith Wilson, Estelle Lyle, Gertrude Roberts, and Helen Kramer.

and holidays without payment of the greens' fee for those days.

"The agreement regarding using the Club House was that it might be used by College students for properly chaperoned groups when arrangements had been made with the House Committee through college authorities. The Club House is not open to individual college students or to small groups of college students.

"College students should learn the ethics of the game of golf as well as the mechanics of the game. The largest group that is reconized on the golf course is four. "Fivesomes", "six-somes", etc. have no place on the course. No person should be permitted to play who does not have a set of clubs and bag. These are furnished by the College. College students should observe the ordinary ethics such as replacing divots, setting the flag back in place and extending courtesies to other players on the course.

"Attention should also be called to the fact that girls are not to be permitted on the greens if they wear high heel shoes.

"Careful regard for the above common courtesies in golf will enable everyone to enjoy the privileges of the Club."

Chesterfield Puts On New Program

A program of dance music and leading song hits every Friday night, at ten o'clock New York Daylight Saving Time is replacing the Saturday night broadcasts sponsored by Chesterfield Cigarettes throughout the winter season. The new series will feature Andre Kostelanetz' 45-piece orchestra with Key Thompson and Ray Heatherton and the Rhythm Singers. David Ross will be the announcer.

The Lily Pons program with Kostelanetz' Concert Orchestra and Chorus will continue as usual on Wednesday evenings. Just recently, on a nation-wide poll of radio editors, Miss Pons was voted the most popular singer in her field.

As to the new Friday night entertainments, Kostelanetz has selected forty-five musicians—thirty-seven of whom were chosen from famous dance bands throughout the country. "We are going to try and show there's more variety and color in dance music than people ever dreamed of", Kostelanetz states. The versatile orchestra will play fox trots, rhumbas, waltzes, boleros, "swing" music and novelties from the best dance music. Supporting the orchestra, Kostelanetz will have Key Thompson, popular radio singer; Ray Heatherton, romantic baritone, and the Rhythm Singers.

Considering the size and make-up of the orchestra, and the singing stars who will be featured, this new program promises to be in keeping with the Chesterfield standard of radio entertainment.

History tells us that when Christopher Columbus' sailors took tobacco back home with them everybody hailed it as one of the first new pleasures in years.

Today tobacco gives more pleasure to more people than ever before.

Many different claims are made for tobacco, but most everybody agrees on this . . .

Smoking is a pleasure and the cigarette is the mildest and purest form in which that pleasure can be enjoyed.
